

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and a control system for controlling rock drilling. A control unit (10) of a rock drilling apparatus is provided with one or more control modes (M1 – M4), each determining the drilling variables to be measured, their threshold values and the operating principles according to which the operating parameters of drilling are controlled to achieve a desired control criterion.